

Position Details

School / Department:

School of Medicine / Pathology

Classification:

Postdoctoral Associate

Funding source:

NIH Grant

Start Date:

9/14/2009

Description:

A post-doctoral position and a research associate position are available at the McGowan Institute for Regenerative Medicine, University of Pittsburgh, on projects related to Human Stem Cells. We are seeking candidates who are highly self-motivated and have strong background in cell and molecular biology. The successful candidates are expected to independently conduct experiments that include, but are not limited to monoclonal antibody screening, stem cell cultures, cancer stem cells cultures, multicolor flow cytometry studies, Immunostaining, ELISA assays, protein isolation, gene cloning, Real-time PCR.

Excellent verbal and written communication skills are required. Interested candidates are encouraged to send their application including curriculum vitae and contact information of at least three references to: Eric Lagasse, PhD, at Eric_lagasse@yahoo.com or lagasse@pitt.edu

Qualifications:

Applicant should have a PhD, MD/PhD, or MD degree for post-doc.

Contact Information

Faculty/PI Name: Eric Lagasse

Mailing address: c/o Eric Lagasse

Department of Pathology

University Pittsburgh

100 Technology Drive

Pittsburgh, PA 15219

Email address: Lagasse@pitt.edu